“ I remember Mom had a bit of the rebel in her at times. She got mad at the electric company and "fixed" the issue by taking an ax to the power line!!! Lucky she didn't get electrocuted!

“ I remember one time Patty and i took mom fishing at the river and it was a light rainy mist so we got out our rain coats. Moms was a camo green color and she was sitting on a stump, not moving a muscle. Behind her was some tall weeds and Patty and I heard a commotion coming from those weeds. As we watched a big fat groundhog came barreling out and you could just see it on it's face as it was thinking if i can just make to that stump i will be okay! Just before it reached mom aka the stump she moved and that groundhog did an about face and was slinging sand and sticks as he tried to get back to the weeds! Patty and i laughed so hard and mom looks over and says what are you girls laughing about and when we told her she laughed as hard as we did

“ Aunt Freda was far beyond the 'ordinary'...she had a wonderful mind and saw and thought in the future of things that could be, and things that were open to a searching mind. When I would visit with my mom as a young adult, through books of past, present, supernatural and the unexplained, she took me on adventures...taught me to question and explore the world around me...she had a 'gift' that many misunderstood and only an open mind could comprehend. I will always love and cherish our conversations, her giving me an open mind to accept that all we see, hear, smell and feel...are just toes in the water to the real depth of the meaning of life. And without my Aunt Freda I wonder if I would be creating my jewelry...a means of support for my horses the last five years. Thank you Aunt Freda...in your own quirky way, wherever your soul soars, I am sure you will be nudging me to explore my world with open mind and heart. Rose

“ I also remember a rooster we had that would flog us kids every time we went outside. One day i went outside and that darn rooster started flogging me and mom grabbed it by the neck and begin to swing it around and around and around and i started crying and saying mommy please don't kill him cause he didn't mean it. Mom turned to me and said Judy that rooster is mean and he meant to do it! I never saw that rooster after that! I think we had chicken for dinner one night... I never put the two together until i was older!

“ What a wonderful mom to have as a kid. My mom is the reason i love the country life and the reason i love horses so much. I remember my sister Karen and i took the horses out for a ride one winter against moms wishes and when we got back mom had to pry our hands from the reins and put the horses up and although she gave us a piece of her mind and was furious with us she still took care of us. Being a mom is a great responsibility and she did it with so much love. I will miss her so dearly. I love you mommy.
